RED CROSS NURSE WILL START WORK

Children in All of the Schools Will Be Examined

WORK STARTS OCT. 3

Randall County Red Cross Chapter and Physicians Assist

Miss A. Ahlshier, Red Cross Nurse, will start work in the public schools of Randall county next Monday and will continue for two months, according to announcement made Tuesday by Dr. D. M. Stewart, chairman of the Randall County Red Cross Chapter.

Miss Ahlshier is on her way from New Orleans and will arrive during the next few days. She will continue the work which has been started in the public schools, and has been so successfully carried on during the past years.

The dentists and physicians of Canyon have volunteered their services in co-operation with Miss Ahlshier in the examination of the children, and in making recommendations to the parents for the correction of physical defects which may be found. This work has been of very great value for the children of the county during the past, and will prove of very great worth this year.

All of the children in the Canyon schools will be examined and then Miss Ahlshier will devote her time to children of the county.

Dr. Stewart stated that the Red Cross Chapter does not have sufficient money to keep the nurse for the full two months, but hopes that the Roll Call starting Nov. 11th will add sufficiently to the funds on hand for the full two months.

Rotarians Hear Miss Cross Talk on Health Work

Miss Ruth Cross, head of the Physical Education Department for Women of W. T. talked Tuesday at the Rotary luncheon on the work of public health improvement. Roy Walrabenstein, accompanied by Miss Frances Usery, entertained with three violin solos. The program was in charge of Doug Shirley.

Miss Cross stated that the first record of any study of health was in China 2600 B. C., when it was found that certain exercises were adopted to improve health. The Greeks associated art and gymnastics, linking the two in the appreciation of beauty. Europe needed warriors, therefore, study was made in order to develop the strongest fighters, which lead to a general regard for the safety of health among the boys.

The first study of public health in America came in the 80's when the death rate of New York City reached an alarming state. In 1892 the first public health official was appointed in New York, followed by a meeting of eastern city officials in Boston when it was decided to bring from Europe men trained to improve health conditions.

The World War revealed so many defects among the young men that public conscience was aroused and intense study started to improve conditions.

In 1930 Texas was the 35th state to pass laws providing for teaching public health in the schools. The study of health comes under three phases:

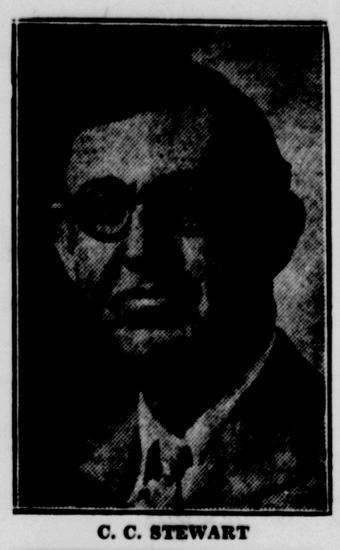
1. Health service, through clinic and study to prevent disease.
2. Health supervision, consisting of sanitation of buildings, furnishing proper surroundings in schools, etc.
3. Health teaching, consisting of hygiene and physiology. The schools attempt to carry on the work as started by the parents.

Health is taught in connection with physical education in all of the schools under the provisions of the law.

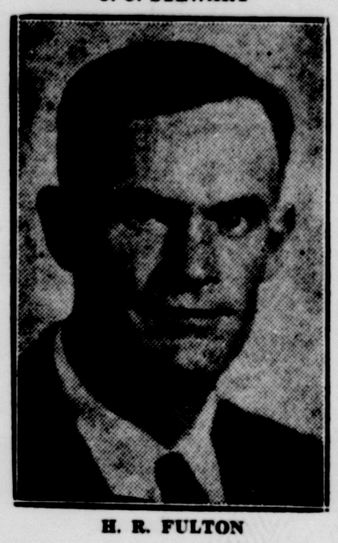
Visitors present Tuesday were: H. B. Fain, Ted Neely, Jack Allen, H. C. Pipkin, Chas. Rogers, Arthur Osgood, C. S. Makeig and Bill Smith of Amarillo; George Terry, Roy Walrabenstein and Miss Cross of Canyon.

Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick left Monday to accompany Mrs. Mattie J. Warwick to the family home at Montezuma, Iowa.

Master Dairy Farmers of Panhandle



C. C. STEWART



H. R. FULTON

First and second places for Master Dairy Farmers of the entire Panhandle were awarded to prominent Randall County farmers at the close of the contest last week in Amarillo.

C. C. Stewart was awarded first place, and crowned Master Dairyman of the Panhandle. Mr. Stewart has been one of the leading farmers of Randall county for a number of years, living northeast of Canyon.

H. R. Fulton, a neighbor of Mr. Stewart, was awarded second place in the contest of Panhandle dairy farmers. He has won high places in the contest each year.

J. W. Watson, another Randall county dairy farmer, won the contest as Master Dairy Farmer in 1930.

During the past four years of the contest, Randall county has placed eight dairymen among the winning 40 places of the entire Panhandle, which includes Master Dairymen for two of the years.

Free Lectures to Be Given Here By Courtesy of Dallas

For years agricultural leaders have been offering short courses in agriculture to the farmers and business men of the community desiring such service.

The manufacturers and jobbers of Dallas are now offering a short course in business administration to the merchants and business men of the Southwest through the Merchants Institute, which will be presented in Canyon on Oct. 13-14.

"We can not hope to cover any subject in the short time allotted to us in Canyon. But we will have time to touch some of the high spots and the more important phases of modern merchandising," Henry W. Stanley, Institute director, said in a communication just received from him.

"Modern business is a battle. It's a battle of brains. Capital once had all the power of business, but that day is history. Brains are in the saddle now. The merchant who exercises good common sense, and excels his competitor in service, is the man who gets the business today."

Among the interesting subjects to be discussed during the forthcoming merchants institute, will be retail salesmanship, advertising, display, and merchandising problems.

The course will be presented to the business men and women of Canyon without cost. All expenses of the speaker being borne by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

C. H. S. Teachers Refuse To Admit The Depression

Canyon's public school teachers did not use the depression as an excuse for not studying during the past summer.

Miss Marguerite Dickenson attended the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Miss Erin Gamble, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Ola Beeson, Mrs. L. M. Cousins and Miss Annis Smith attended the local college.

Tax Rate Is Set by Commissioners

Reduced 40c by State Taking Over Highway Bonds

Randall County's tax rate was set this week at 75 cents on the $100 valuation by the commissioners' court. This rate is 40 cents under the rate provisionally set at the August meeting when it was undetermined as to whether or not the state would take over the bonded indebtedness of the county for highway construction. At that time the commissioners were advised by Governor Sterling to withhold the final tax rate until a special session of the legislature could act upon the proposal to take 1 cent of the gasoline tax to pay off the highway bonds of the counties of the state. This action was completed last week.

Judge Orton states that notice has been received from the board handling this matter to work out the details of highway expenditures of the county and be able to answer a questionnaire soon to be sent out. Auditors are expected to check the county's expenditures as soon as the county files its claims with the state for the $285,000 bond issues outstanding, or so much thereof as the state will assume.

The state will assume all but the expenditures for right of ways.

Burney Slack, tax assessor, states that the county's tax rolls will not be ready on the first of October, owing to the delay in setting the tax rate, but he hopes to have the rolls ready by next week when tax payers may pay their taxes for this year.

McCrerey Wins on Prediction of The Rain

J. W. McCrerey takes the medal when it comes to predicting.

He came to the News office Thursday morning and stated that everything looked all set for a three days' rain. And the rain came.

Mr. McCrerey stated that every ten years there is a wet fall, usually with about three days of rain. This is the year for it.

At any rate, Mr. McCrerey guessed that it was going to rain for three days, and it sure did.

Roosevelt and John N. Garner, are distributed to the shareholders, and later will be placed on sale in the county.

WHEAT CROP DELAYED BY DRY WEATHER

First Rain of the Fall Welcomed by the Farmers

CONTINUES 4 DAYS

Start Planting Wheat As Soon as Fields Are Dry Enough

Rain amounting to 3.55 inches fell in Canyon from Thursday morning to Tuesday morning. The downpour was slow at all times, so that all of the water soaked into the ground as fast as it fell.

The rain started to fall Thursday morning and continued almost every hour until Sunday night. Monday was clear, with the sun shining a greater part of the day. Another shower Tuesday morning ended the rain period, raising the total moisture to 3.55 inches.

The rain Thursday and Thursday night amounted to 1.25 inches. During Friday .50 of an inch was added, and another half inch on Saturday. Rain fell at frequent intervals Sunday, with a heavy downpour Sunday night which amounted to 1.20 inches. The shower of Monday night in Canyon amounted to only .10 of an inch but a larger amount of moisture was reported south and west of the city at this time.

Needless to say the spirits of all citizens of the Plains were greatly revived by the heavy rains of this week. With the continued dry weather during the summer and fall, very little wheat has been planted. Now the farmers will be able to get in their wheat crop, and the moisture will insure good pasture during the winter months. This pasture will be greatly needed owing to the short grain crop of the Panhandle for this year.

$7,500 Set Aside to Take Bumps Out of the Highway

The State Highway Commission has set aside an appropriation of $7,500 to take the bumps out of the concrete highway between Canyon and Amarillo. Work was started last week on the stretch south of Hollywood, which was the worst part of the highway. The results have been very satisfactory.

It is stated that owing to a peculiar condition of the soil in places that the roadbed sinks, making the concrete sag as much as four inches in places. To correct this, holes are bored through the concrete, and a mixture of clay and cement pumped under the low places, which raises the concrete. The method is proving successful wherever tried.

Mrs. L. F. Sheffy was called to Hereford Sunday by the illness of her niece.

Elmer Fite of Pampa visited this week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fite.

College Enrollment Shows An Increase

23rd Annual Session of W. T. Gets Under Way With 870

The twenty-third annual session of the West Texas State Teachers College opened last Wednesday, with a slightly increased enrollment over last year, according to information compiled yesterday by Travis Shaw, business manager of the College. 695 college students had paid their fees yesterday at noon, while 720 are reported to have passed the office of Registrar D. A. Shirley. There are 150 enrolled in the training school, making the total of 870.

The enrollment up to yesterday was more than the total enrollment for the fall term of 1931, stated Mr. Shirley. The muddy roads have kept a number of students away, who are expected to enroll during the coming week.

According to Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the institution, the coming year promises to be one of the most successful, from the standpoint of achievement, in the history of the College. "Everyone here," said President Hill, "means business. Those people attending college this year have a purpose in mind. They are not present for the pleasures of idleness but for lasting benefits to be obtained. I am indeed pleased with the prospects."

POLITICAL CAREER ENDS.

It was with a feeling of great relief that the Newsman left Austin last week with the feeling that his political career was at an end, and never again would he venture forth in this field of activity. For four years, it has been our lot to serve in a political capacity. During this period it has been almost impossible to look after private business affairs as they should be looked after, considering the fact that nearly half of the time has been spent in legislative work of one kind or another.

Holding public office has a certain charm that no one has been able to adequately explain, and few to thoroughly understand. There are many illusions held out in making a political campaign, which the candidate cannot fully appreciate or understand and until he reaches the heat of the campaign. Then he begins to wonder why he was foolish enough to get mixed up in the fracus, and just before election hopes that he will be defeated so that he may forever break away from all political aspirations. Ask any candidate who was in the campaign this year, and he will tell you these were his reactions.

The principal reason for the feeling of disgust in politics comes to the candidate when he realizes that material issues are thrown to the wind, and nothing is discussed but personalities, which have nothing to do with the merits or demerits of the candidates involved. This makes the candidate who stands for something feel completely disgusted with politics and with office holding.

The best thing that could happen to improve politics in America, and to give the voters a better appreciation of their government would be to compel all voters to run for some kind of a public office. The voter who goes thru a campaign of personal criticism for things that he has never done, and abused for things over which he has absolutely no control has a more kindly feeling for those who offer for public office. He gets a better outlook on his government. He is able better to analyze the candidates and compare their relative fitness for public office. More easily is he able to surrender his personal likes and dislikes for the benefit of society as a whole, and more adequately understand qualifications of the candidates as to their capacity for public service. More often he will be willing to vote for the superior candidate, rather than just express his prejudices. Therefore, we say, let every American citizen run for some public office, and learn more about what this government really means, and get a better understanding of the trials and tribulations which confront those who offer for these public places. He will then realize that all public servants are not crooked, and that just because some one makes vague charges does not prove that public officials hold office only for the sake of personal gain.

From a personal standpoint, we are glad to have been able to serve the state for four years, even though it has cost a lot of hard earned money, and business interests have been sacrificed. We have gained a broader vision of Texas and her institutions. We have been able to associate with people from every section of Texas, gathering information of conditions which prevail in each and every section. We have been able to meet the real leaders of the state, both in the political and business fields, and to learn from them valuable knowledge of the institutions of Texas, and the problems which are confronting the citizens of the state.

After all is said, about the only satisfaction there is in holding public office is the realization of having done one's best, regardless of results, and to carry into the future the memories of the worthwhile friendships which were made with people who are now doing things in and for the state, and who will continue to be the leaders of the future regardless of the capacity of their activities.

It is indeed a very little service that one individual usually is able to accomplish in legislative lines. The legislative hall is more or less based upon mass production, the same as industry. While many individuals are able to point directly to accomplishments which may be branded as their own, these cases are indeed few. All of the important bills are the result of thought given by many, ofttimes outside legislative halls, and often in the office of the attorney general's department. The good legislator is the one who is able to discern the good from the bad, support those bills which should become the law of the state, and oppose those which might prove detrimental to the state.

Most legislators have in mind the good of the state. There are always those who would wreck all institutions in which they do not have a personal interest. But on the whole, you will find most of the members throwing their support on the side of the good, measures which will prove to be for the benefit of Texas, its people and its institutions.

However, in each and every legislature there are many unfits. Some are lazy, and will not work. Others are there for the money they get. The 42nd Legislature was the first to draw $10 per day, under the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters of Texas in the last general election. The membership was elected at the same time the people voted the increase in salary. The argument was made that with increased pay, better qualified men would be elected. 85 of the present 150 members of the House were ousted this summer by the voters. 10 of the 16 senators whose terms expired will not be back in January. It will be up to the next legislature to prove that the people did right in raising their pay. The present legislature did not, on all occasions, prove to be worth the money to the taxpayers.

The usual cry against office holders, charging unfitness in public office, crookedness, inefficiency, should fall on deaf ears. The trouble is not with those elected, but with the voters in casting their ballots. If the primary system is not filling the offices of the state with the right type of men and women, the fault is with the individual voters, and those who are hollering the loudest are usually the ones who vote for the least fit, by the way of their prejudices. The legislature is no exception. The law making body reflects the sympathy of the various districts which they represent, or at least they are elected for that purpose. If they are mistakes made in the legislative circles, then the voters have only to thank themselves for sending the men or women whom they have elected. This is no reflection on any member of present, past or future legislatures.

The average citizen who looks down from the gallery upon a legislative scene would consider the House of Representatives, especially, a perfect madhouse. The Senate is a little more dignified—at times. The average citizen wonders if the members know what it is all about, and guesses that his Representative does not — some times he is right in the guess. The average citizen wonders how any individual can read and pass intelligently upon as many as 600 bills in a single session; fact is, the legislator cannot, and has to take the word of the sponsor of the bill for many things and often guesses wrong in his vote. But all in all, madhouse or not, the citizen will usually find his legislator making an honest effort to promote the welfare of his state, and having more interest than he usually is accredited with.

The special session just closed was perhaps the most successful special session held in recent years. The Governor submitted three major subjects. Bills were passed upon all three of these. Many other bills were passed, not within the Governor's call. Part of these he will veto, but others he will approve. The session continued for 23 days. It is charged that the legislature wasted time, which is true. All of the important bills could have been passed in half the time consumed. Many of the lame ducks were honest in proclaiming that it was their intention to hold the legislature as long as possible.

The voters of the state have expressed their desire for a change in removing 95 of the 181 Senators and Representatives. The next legislature will be the youngest in the history of the state. They have promised action. The people are expecting something different, as promised by the new candidates during the campaign this year. Experienced members were told to stand aside and give the new ones a chance. The people are demanding radical changes in their government.

We are glad to be on the outside looking in. It is a much more comfortable feeling to be at home, working with the people, many of whom have been our associates for the past 22 years. We ask that hearty cooperation be given the new legislature, and that everything possible be done by the citizenship of this district to back to the limit those who carry the responsibility of the new administration which will be inaugurated in January. It is hard to please all, and the least any one can do for his state is to extend his cooperation and sympathy toward those who bear the burdens and pass the laws of the state.

Good luck and lots of it, to the 43rd Legislature. The writer, as a private citizen, will back you to the limit.

Hats off again to Walter Upchurch, the premier exhibitor of Texas. Walter never fails to win when he displays his goods. It is discouraging to the other county agents when Walter announces that he will display, as it means that one of the top places of the show is cinched, usually the blue ribbon class. Knowing the kind of stuff that it takes, knowing who produces prize winning crops, and knowing how to prepare and display these top-notch products is what makes Upchurch the success that he is. Incidentally, it takes hundreds of hours of hard labor to prepare and arrange an exhibit. Valuable assistance is given Mr. Upchurch in this work by Mrs. Upchurch, the Upchurch children and neighbors who have an interest in the success of the Randall county exhibits. When a good county produces prize winning products, and has a man who knows how to select and arrange this prize material it is no wonder that the county exhibit continues to hold top place in this section and among the top winners year after year at the Dallas State Fair.

That Randall county is the home of the Dairy Cow has again been demonstrated in the Master Farmers Contest when C. C. Stewart was named Dairy King of the Panhandle. For the second time since the contest was started, a Randall county man tops the Panhandle dairymen. J. W. Watson was the Master Dairyman in 1930. And another Randall county dairyman, H. R. Fulton, was winner of second place in this year's contest. What these farmers are doing with and for the dairy industry in Randall county, others may do. It is a worthy example that these dairy farmers have set, and one that will pay any of the farmers to follow. More power to the farmers of Randall county.

Boy, oh boy, wasn't that some rain. Coming just about 15 minutes before it was too late, yet early enough to allow the wheat farmers to get in their crop in fine shape.

LOSING A SENSE.

It sometimes seems as if mankind were losing the sense of wonder. Such extraordinary events and apparently incredible achievements have been piling up before the eyes of the world during the past few years that men are tempted to think that anything may happen and that everything is to be taken for granted.

When the seemingly impossible becomes the demonstrated actual, most of us take it as a matter of course. Predictions which a few years ago provoked general and scornful incredulity have materialized before our interested but hardly wondering eyes.

Thus does the miraculous pass into the commonplace. Modern invention and the wonderful applications of science give fresh point to the saying of Whitman: "Every cubic inch of space is a miracle."

If the world has come to take these marvels as merely "customed events" and to cease to feel astonished at them, it has at least become newly conscious how small the world has grown. With such speed through air as man has come to command, and with instant communication made feasible between the ends of the earth, nothing is remote, everything is near at hand. What occurs in one quarter of the globe immediately affects the inhabitants of all the rest of it.

The thing truly to wonder at is that some men should still be oblivious of this mighty change and think it possible for one nation to live unto itself alone.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page Is Honored On Her Vacation Trip To Tennessee

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page, the charming and gifted hostess at the Little House of Fellowship, located at 408 Seventeenth Street, was signally honored on her recent trip to Tennessee and during her visit there was accorded one of the highest compliments that can be given a club woman in the state.

At the first fall meeting of the Nashville Woman's Press and Author's club held Tuesday afternoon, September 13, Mrs. Page was unanimously elected honorary president for life of that organization which she founded twenty-six years ago and which she served for nineteen years in the capacity of president.

Just prior to the business meeting, Mrs. Page was honor guest at a luncheon in the Y. W. C. A. tea room and principal speaker for the occasion. In her talk she told of the Little House and gave an interesting account to the women of Tennessee of her work in Texas and with the college students and townspeople of Canyon. The house, a student center, is maintained by the Episcopal church but is non-denomination in nature, and is a place for comradeship and good cheer as well as a factor in the religious life of the community.

Said the Nashville Banner in speaking of her talk: "Mrs. Page told of the work being done by members of the literary group and journalists in that section of Texas. Recently seven of Mrs. Page's poems have been set to music by a gifted Texas composer, Mrs. Charlotte Ingham Word, and two of them already been sung at meetings in that state. Mrs. Page's poetical work has recently been recognized by two anthologies, one published in this country and one in England. By request the speaker read several of her poems, including 'The Wind,' 'At Evening time,' 'An Ink Well,' 'The Happy Orange,' and 'The Willow Cradle'."

Mrs. Page was also one of the three organizers of the Tennessee Woman's Press and Author's club and served as its president some years ago. She has been at the Little House of Fellowship in Canyon for the past three and one-half years and during that time has received more than 5,000 callers. Despite the fact that the scope of her activities widens yearly, she has managed to continue her writing and her works continue to be published in nationally known books and magazines.

Mrs. Page returned Thursday from Tennessee where she visited in the homes of relatives and friends.

College To Be Hosts to Kappas

Miss Cleo Holmes, sponsor, and delegates Bernice Bessire, Mrs. Sue Donald and Dena Fay Jameson returned Sunday from the Kappa Omicron Phi Conclave at Winfield, Kansas, with glowing tales of work accomplished there and with the important announcement that the local chapter of the West Texas State Teachers College will be hosts to the national conclave at its next meeting in 1934 here in Canyon.

Indeed the local organization did more than put Texas on the map, as the group also returned with a national officer in the person of Miss Holmes, who was elected National Chairman of Alumni Chapters.

Fourteen chapters from the following states were represented at the meet: California, Texas, Arizona, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Ohio and Delaware. The only other chapter in Texas is at Kingsville, and the W. T. delegation was the largest with the exception of one other which was composed of three delegates and two sponsors.

Mrs. Donald was initiated into the organization at the meeting in Winfield. Miss Jean Day and Miss Dorothy Gore are the other members of the local chapter, and Miss Marie Park is eligible for initiation.

Kappa Omicron Phi, national scholarship sorority for students in Home Economics, was organized in 1922 and the local chapter established in 1927. Only students making grades in the upper 20 per cent of each class are eligible for membership.

NANCY JOANNE ATKINS

This winsome miss is Nancy Joanne, the fourteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Atkins of this city. Miss Atkins is noted for her come-hither glance which is exhibited above, her school girl complexion and her mischievous smile.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

By appointment of our General Assembly, Rally Day will be generally observed by Presbyterians on next Sunday; and offerings will be taken for the cause of Christian Education.

Our Sunday School will open at the usual hour. It is earnestly desired that every member, so far as possible, will be present, and that there will be a number of new members. The offering is for a good cause. Let's make it a generous one.

Let every member of the church try to be at the morning service. Vacation time is passed, schools have opened, there is renewed activity in secular affairs, why should not the church take on new life also? Do your part to make it so. The sermon will be appropriate to Rally Day.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold service at seven o'clock in the evening. Students and other young people will be cordially welcomed.

We extend to you a hearty invitation to all of our services.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

There will be services at the Episcopal Church, next Sunday night, Oct. 2, at 8:00 o'clock. Mr. C. J. E. Lowndes, of Amarillo, will be in charge. Mr. Lowndes is affectionately known to Episcopalians as the "Dean of Lay Readers," in North Texas; and is also known to the pioneers of this section in connection with the old T-Anchor ranch.

It is hoped that many of his old friends will be present at this, his first service at the Canyon church, in recent years; and that they will meet him afterwards at the Little House of Fellowship.

All new students are especially invited.

Mrs. Page expects to resume her Interdenominational Bible Class, which met last year, on Monday nights, at the Little House of Fellowship, at an early date. Due notice will be given, in the press and on the college bulletin boards. All interested are invited to join in this research, which is conducted without any doctrinal bias, using the world's best commentaries by scholars of all denominations, for reference.

METHODIST CHURCH.

You are always welcome to all of our services at the Methodist Church. Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. every Sunday. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Rev. L. N Lipscomb, Presiding Elder of the Amarillo District will occupy the pulpit Sunday evening Oct. 2, and will hold our Fourth and last Quarterly Conference immediately following. Let all officers and members please be present. It is only a few weeks now until Annual Conference which will be held at Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo, Nov. 10. Let us all work together to bring up the best report possible.

Our Leagues will meet in their respective places in the Church every Sunday at 7 p. m.

C. E. JAMESON, Pastor.

Dog Hero Wins Eleventh Medal

"The bravest dog in California," oddly, is named "Kentucky Boy." He is shown above, wearing the 11 medals he has won for valor. "Kentucky Boy," an airedale belonging to Robert Milton Byrne of Los Angeles, recently gave an alarm which prevented a large Hollywood motion picture studio from destruction by fire. For this and other feats he won the first medal ever awarded a dog by the Humane Commissioners of Los Angeles.

Parcel Post Rates to be Raised October First

Increased rates on parcel post mail will become effective October 1st. The new rates which were approved in February by the Interstate Commerce Commission are intended to cut the annual deficit this class of mail has produced.

Based on revenues and expenditures for 1930, the department figured that parcel post was being handled at a net loss of $15,000,000.

While there was a material loss on parcels in the first three zones, those beyond were handled at a profit. The new schedules are designed to equalize the rates. No change is to be made on parcels for local delivery. The increases will run from one to three cents, depending upon weight and distance.

The new rates are: First and second zones, 8 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 1.1 cents for each additional pound or fraction; third zone, 9 and 2 cents, respectively; fourth zone, 10 and 3.5 cents; fifth zone, 11 and 5.3 cents; sixth zone, 12 and 7 cents; seventh zone, 14 and 9 cents; eighth zone, 15 and 11 cents.

The postage on parcels mailed on rural routes for local delivery will be 2 cents less than these rates and 3 cents less when for other than local delivery. The new regulations permit mailing matter up to 70 pounds in weight and as large as 100 pounds in length and girth combined.

Dean of Women Returns From Trip Of Interest East

After completing a trip of nearly five thousand miles in length, which included a visit to the old home place in West Virginia, Mrs. Geraldine Green returned to Canyon last week to assume her regular duties as Dean of Women. Mrs. Green took advantage of the time between terms to visit her mother, Mrs. Eva G. Robinson, who lives in West Virginia.

Nell Green, who spent the summer with her grandmother, returned with Mrs. Green to take up work as a pupil in the Training School.

On the return trip from the east, Dean Green stopped in Cincinnati, Ohio, and visited in the home of Rev. Gordon Lang. Rev. Lang, until recently, was a resident of Canyon; Mrs. Lang at the time of her death in 1927 was head of the English Department.

From Cincinnati the Greens were accompanied by Martha Nell Lang, who will be in school in W. T. this fall.

Cyril Lane, as driver for Mrs. Green, shared in the pleasures of the trip. Lane, who is a W. T. student, has accompanied Mrs. Green on several trips in the east.

Quite a number from these parts attended the Amarillo Fair. Those who waited until last of the week had a muddy time. Some of us thought the Fair very fine.

Roy S. Franklin spent Monday night in his car in a ditch near Wayside.

Chinese Jujubes on W. J. Sluder's place in Wayside made fine fruit. They canned 15 quarts, preserved some; make good preserves, flavored with lemon.

Has been suggested to have Rev. Butterfield's birthday dinner next Sunday at the church. All interested, take notice.

Myles McGehee and Bruce Howard have entered W. T. College at Canyon.

Manford Counterman and family spent Saturday night and Sunday in the Sluder home.

Buffs to Meet Oklahoma Aggies Friday Night

Next Friday night, September 30th, at eight p. m., the Panhandle Aggies of Goodwell, Oklahoma, will engage the Buffaloes in a football game at Buffalo Stadium.

The Buffaloes are expected to be in good shape for this tussle with the Aggies crew. The Oklahoma boys lost a hard fought game early in the season to the Badgers of Amarillo Junior College, but are expected to give the Bison a tough battle this week end. Coach Fields of the Aggies has had considerable time to work his team into fine shape for the game.

"The Oklahoma boys are figured a setup, but I'm not taking any chances," said Coach Burton. "One loss is enough for the Buffaloes this season. They will be in there fighting and they will beyond a doubt meet a different team from that which met the Amarillo College squad last week. The Aggies are preparing for us with vengeance."

With the weather man promising excellent football climatic conditions, the game has all the indications of a big drawing card.

Buffalo Gym Gets Overhauling; To Increase Capacity

Improvement work of an extensive nature is nearing completion on Buffalo Gym. The eastern tier of seats have been raised. Showers and dressing rooms have been built beneath.

The latter accomodations will be used by physical education classes and intramural athletes. Insufficient room was heretofore provided, both classes and athletic teams being forced to divide the space. Old showers in the north end of the building will hereafter be used by squadmen only.

Cost of improvements will amount to nearly two thousand dollars.

The seating capacity of the gym will be increased by several hundred. Seats will also be made more comfortable and improved in appearance. The Frany Lytle Construction Co., of Amarillo has the contract.

Dave Warren of Panhandle, publisher of the Panhandle Herald, was a business caller in the city Saturday.

German Student Gives Recital at Methodist Church

Lary Fischer, German student in the U. S., appeared in recital at the Methodist church Sunday night, giving several numbers on the organ and a fifteen minute lecture on economic and social conditions in Germany and Russia.

Mr. Fischer is now on tour of the western states where he hopes to gain much information about this country. His only compensation for his public appearances consists of a free-will offering. In this manner his expenses are paid.

A student at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., Fischer came to this country as one of five German exchange students from the University of Leipzig. He has been in the U. S. since February.

His program included a large variety of organ numbers. Several W. T. students appeared in vocal and piano renditions. The church was decorated especially for the occasion by Miss Mattie Mae Swisher assisted in the the arrangements by Mr. Fischer.

SCHOOL TAX ROLLS READY OCTOBER FIRST

J. W. Shanklin states that the tax rolls for the Canyon Independent School District will be ready by Saturday, and that collections will start at that time.

Mr. Shanklin states that the schools will need all of the money possible to collect this fall, in order to keep the work going. Many local people paid their taxes early last year in order to meet the expenses for the opening months, and will be asked to do the same thing again this year.

BROADCAST OF CITY HEARD IN MANY PLACES

Response to the late evening broadcast of the Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday has come in from distant points during the week. The program was old-time music furnished by the Canyon Novelty Orchestra and was the third program sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce on Canyon Day at the Tri-State Fair.

A report from Vancouver, Washington, was the most distant point so far to report the program. Other distant reports have come from St. George, Utah; Montrose, Colo., and St. John, Kansas.

Miss Elizabeth Jameson, who is teaching at Big Square, Texas, visited at home over the week-end.

Candidates Meet in Kansas

From the cheerfulness of John N. Garner, left, Democratic nominee for the vice presidency, and Governor Franklin D Roosevelt of New York, Democratic presidential nominee, you wouldn't think there was any doubt about the outcome of the November election. The two running mates are shown aboard the governor's special train at Topeka, Kan., where Roosevelt made the first major speech of his western campaign.

VOLUME NO. 7 CANYON, TEXAS. SEPTEMBER 29, 1932. NUMBER 3

THE ABOLITION OF ECONOMIC ILLITERACY

Assume for a moment all schools closing for a school generation—six to twenty-six—a period twenty years. There would be little, if any, modern education and training; because, where millions of learners need to be educated, only organized and systematized education could possibly do the work. How would uneducated and untrained people fit into the business man's scheme of producer or buyer? Even the mail order houses would have to organize picture classes in order to explain their catalogs to prospective buyers. As producers these people would react no better. Such a crash in business would follow that past panics would seem like a quarter-point fluctuation in the securities market, by comparison. In short, schools perpetuate a continually upkeeping and upgrading process in our American life. If the schools were closed for one generation, the golden chain of economic success would be broken, and it would take several generations to recover the loss because their great power lies in the perpetuity and continuity.

Another reason why it's hard to do business in towns like Canyon is because it's almost impossible to refuse credit to a fellow who calls you by your first name.

Sale of Activity Tickets Causes Keen Rivalry

The Canyon High School is bustling with activity and interesting contest is running full force. All four of the high school classes and the sixth and seventh grades are taking part in the contest.

A new activity ticket plan has been put before the student body. The plan is that each person pay a dime a week to see all home football games, all home basketball games, the Pep Squad play, the senior play, the lyceum number, and the intramural contest. The total sum for all these activities, if paid on regular basis, would amount to $4.90. On the dime a week plan it amounts to $3.00.

For the first week the pupil receives a 100 per cent loyalty, red tag. The contest is to see which class has bought the most tickets the winner to receive a silver loving cup. Tyson Cox is head secretary. When a pupil has paid his dime, he goes to Tyson and receives a ticket that has the number of weeks paid marked on it. Every week up to the time of the Activity must be marked before the student sees that particular attraction.

The class can tell whether they are ahead or not by the means of a poster on the bulletin board. On this poster the four classes are represented by people on horses riding on a line that is marked with per cents. The student must have paid 30 cents. A dime for each week, by Friday, before they will be admitted to the game Saturday night.

Everyone in the school is 100 per cent strong and loyal for this plan and is sure it will enable each student to see all the school attractions.

Chapel

A new procedure, which is quite popular with the student body, is being followed in the high school chapel. Leonard Brasuel, the new president of the student association presides over each meeting. He is assisted by his secretary, Marjory Tankersley.

During the last assembly the new activity ticket plan was placed before the assembly by Mr. Terry. Then the president of the association called for comments from some of the students. Those of the students who responded were: Robbie Foster, Sewell Cox, Armor Lee Greenfield, Rosa Cash, Frances Elliston, George Brasuel, Odgen Stroud, Robert Black, Louise Wester, Mable Schmitz, and Tyson Cox. The students showed much enthusiasm over the new activity ticket and the new plan for chapel programs.

It is believed that this procedure will help to develop leadership in students as well as a stronger feeling of loyalty to the student body as a whole.

Pep Squad To Hold Rally Sat. Before Vega Game

Saturday evening at seven o'clock the pep squad is holding a pep rally over the town preparing for a good fight at the game with Vega. The purpose of this rally is to create a lively spirit among all of the students as well as among the citizens of the town and surrounding territories.

Everyone enjoys good sports, is interested in his children or his neighbor's children, and therefore should support the institution to which they go. It is hoped that the rally will serve as a reminder that the Eagles will soon be on the field, fighting for C. H. S.

BE A BOOSTER

What about these little red tags we're all to wear? Can't we each buy a student activity ticket and show that we are loyal to the Canyon High School student activities?

Boost your school! Don't be a slacker, but get right in line and be a 100 per cent booster.

Let's sell these tickets and back the Eagles! We can do without a package of gum and a coca cola every week. We could even refrain from seeing that good Saturday night picture show if necessary.

One for all, and all for one! Let's get behind these Eagles and push old C. H. S. right over the top.

LIBRARY FINES REDUCED

The grade school library fines have been reduced to the rate of five cents on the day the book is due, one cent being added each day until it is returned. Heretofore the price has been ten cents on the day due with the addition of one cent each day.

We acknowledge taking this from an ad, but it's good: "Spend your profit with the people who make your profit possible." And we add, save your money from the birds that make your losses profitable.

JOIN A CLUB

It will soon be time to organize clubs. Every student in the Canyon High School should be a member of some club. He should not be just a "seat warmer," but an active, go-getting member.

Clubs organize the student body into small groups, where the members receive entertainment as well as knowledge. Each student may study and learn any type of work in which he or she is interested or may introduce into the club new ideas and customs. He may be a natural born leader; if so, he is given the opportunity to develop this talent. If a member can aid his club in any way, he should do so.

If there is not an organization you wish to join, get a few together and organize one to suit yourself; and when you do, work—for your own good and the good of your school.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

"Old Frank" Ouimet Knows His Golf, and When He Tottered Out at the National Amateur, the Young 'Uns Learned a Lot

BY PHILIP MARTIN

WELL, even if he didn't win the National Amateur, Francis (Old Frank) Ouimet gave those young sprouts a lot of golf to think about for a long time.

"Old Frank," who held the amateur championship when he went to Five Farms, near Baltimore, Md., to defend his title against the best simon-pures in the country, took his tottering form, on which hung 39 years, and blazed away through the early rounds to defeat the best of the young bloods.

This story should deal with the winner of the Amateur, Ross Somerville, who beat Johnny Goodman in the last round. But there's so much to tell about Ouimet and his courageous playing that the winner takes a back seat in this yarn.

FRANK himself broke into the game as a youngster. His brilliant golf at the age of 20, back in 1913, won the U. S. Open title for him from such stars as Ted Ray and Harry Vardon, the best Britain had to offer in those days.

Down through the years Ouimet has spurned the lure of gold and stuck to the amateur ranks. Perhaps he could have won a pile, and perhaps he couldn't have against the array of professionals that now swing around the circuit. He's stuck to the ranks and has always given the gallery its money's worth.

He first won the amateur championship 18 years ago. Last year, after being out of the picture for 17 years, he copped it again. This year he entered against a field of about 160 golfers, the majority of them just out of knee pants and in knickers but a few years. Only Chick Evans, 43, was older than Ouimet.

In addition to his age handicap, he had just recovered from an attack of grippe which had shaded his playing in the Walker Cup matches at Brookline a short time before.

But "Old Frank" is made of the stern stuff of the past generation. Undaunted by youth and his physical condition, he walked out on the course at Five Farms and proceeded to play golf. And what golf!

The courageous playing of Francis Ouimet, left, veteran amateur, was an outstanding feature of the National Amateur tournament held near Baltimore, Md. Ouimet's stout fight for the crown ended when he was taken over by Johnny Goodman, Omaha boy wonder. Goodman later bowed to Ross Somerville, right, who won the tournament.

HIS first job was to qualify in that large field. He came through after an indifferent first round and qualified with only one stroke to spare. Next he encountered George Voigt, one of the smoothest in the amateur ranks. He managed to nose out George 6 and 5 in the most colorful match of the entire tournament.

George was hot. He was out in 34, a score that would have broken the heart of a less staunch golfer. But undaunted "Old Frank" blazed away and shot a 30 for the first nine, the lowest score ever shot in the 39 years of the tournament. The previous low score, 31, was made by Bobby Jones.

His next match was with Sydney Noyes, youngster, whom he managed to vanquish one up. Then he beat Johnny Fischer, a young upstart from the University of Michigan, who had electrified the gallery in the early rounds. Fischer fell under Ouimet's play by the same score as Noyes.

The ancient's Waterloo was met in the semi-finals, when he ran up against Johnny Goodman, the boy wonder from Omaha.

But despite his defeat, "Old Frank" is still the "grand old man" of golf.

Cheaper . . .

IN spite of recent reductions in living costs, according to the annual report on the subject by the National Industrial Conference Board, the cost of living has not reached pre-war levels. At the close of 1931 it was still 34 percent higher than in July, 1914.

DURING this same period, however, the average cost of domestic electric service has decreased 32 percent BELOW the July, 1914 average.

CANNING HINTS

Editor's Note—These recipes for canning are given by Miss Sadie Kate Bass, home demonstration agent for Randall county, and are especially seasonable for use at this time of the year. It is suggested that they be clipped and placed in your recipe cabinet for reference now and in the future.)

SANDWICH FILLINGS AND CRACKERS

School Lunch Suggestions

Ready vegetable sandwich fillings for children.

Different vegetables such as cabbage, celery, cucumber, onion, carrots, or beets, may be combined, seasoned and canned, ready for using in sandwich fillings. All of these except the beets may be raw. Cooking the beets gives them a better color. Both beets and carrots are most desirable when grated, but the others may be chopped fine.

In addition to salt, pepper, sugar, and the vinegar in which the vegetables are canned, any of the following seasonings may be selected according to taaste: Pepper (green or red), horse radish, parsley, mustard, white mustard seed, cloves, allspice, cinnamon.

When ready to make the sandwiches, creamed butter will be found to serve as a good binder for the mixture. It is appetizing and will save the trouble of having to butter the bread. Boiled (cooked salad) dressing also acts as a satisfactory binder.

The following recipe has been found to be well liked:

Vegetable Relish

1 cup sweet red pepper, chopped fine; 1 cup small white onions, chopped fine; 1 cup cucumbers, chopped fine; 2 cups cabbage, chopped fine; ½ cup celery, chopped fine; ¼ cup sugar; 2 tablespoons salt; 2 cups vinegar.

Cut open the peppers, remove the seeds and white sections, and chop. After chopping the other vegetables combine all of them with the seasoning and mix well. Then place rubbers on one pint sterilized glass topped jar and pack the mixture into them rather loosely, filling within an inch of the top. Scald the vinegar, and pouring it over the relish fill the jars. Put lids on without clamping.

Have enough hot water in wash boiler sterilized so that it will extend at least one inch above the tops of the jars. Place the hot jar in the hot water. Heat the water to boiling and boil 10 minutes. Then seal the jars and remove from the water.

Other mixtures such as the following may also be used:

1 cup green peppers, chopped fine; ½ cup sweet red peppers, chopped fine; 2 cups cabbage; ½ cup onions, chopped fine; 1 cup celery, chopped fine; ½ cup sugar ½ tsp. mustard; 2½ tbsp. salt; 2 cups vinegar.

¾ cup green peppers, chopper fine; 2 cups green tomatoes, chopped fine; 2 cups cucumbers, chopped fine; ½ cup celery, chopped fine; 1 cup white onions, chopped fine; 1 cup brown sugar; ½ tsp. white mustard seed; ⅛ tsp. ground cloves; 3½ tbsp. salt; 2 cups vinegar; ½ tsp. mustard.

½ cup green pepper, chopped fine; 1¼ cups cucumbers, chopped fine; ¼ cup white onions, chopped fine; 2 cups cabbage, chopped fine; 1 cup carrots, chopped fine; 1 cup brown sugar; ½ tsp. mustard; 2 tbsp. salt; 2 cups vinegar.

Cooked Dressing, "Boiled" Dressing

¼ tbsp. salt; 1 tsp. mustard; 2-3 tbsp sugar; few grains of cayenne; 2 tbsp flour; 1 egg or 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten; 2 tbsp butter; ¾ cup milk; ¼ cup vinegar.

Mix dry ingredients, add egg, butter, milk, and vinegar very slowly. Stir and cook over boiling water until mixture begins to thicken. Strain and cool.

Whole Wheat Crackers

2 cups finely ground whole wheat; 3 tbsp solid fat; 1 tsp salt; 6-7 tbsp water.

Mix the dry ingredients and cut in the fat with a biscuit cutter. Add sufficient water to make a stiff dough. Roll the dough into a thin sheet. Cut into squares (3 in. by 3 in.) and bake at 450 degrees F.

Makes about 20 crackers. White flour may be substituted for ½ the ground whole wheat, if desired.

Whole Wheat Cracker

2 cups finely ground whole wheat; 1 tsp. salt; 3 tbsp. solid fat; 6 tbsp. water; 3 tbsp. sugar; ¼ tsp. soda; 2 tbsp. molasses.

Mix dry ingredients and cut in the fat with a biscuit cutter. Mix the molasses and water and stir into the dry ingredients. Spread the mixture onto a baking sheet. Cut into squares (3 in. by 3 in.) and bake at 425 degrees F.

Get in on New Fall Silhouette

FLARING, BLOUSING SLEEVES, WRAP-AROUND SUIT SKIRTS, HIGHER NECK LINES, ARE SOME NEW FASHION TRICKS

BY HARRIET

IF you haven't several style tricks up your sleeve, now that autumn is here, your frock has missed one of the most important features of the new silhouette. Sleeves do daring things and get away with it, because they remove inches from the hips and make the waistline appear as you want it to appear, just by increasing their own voluminousness. Sometimes they blouse and end below the elbows. Sometimes they run the gauntlet of the arm, concluding with tight, long cuffs.

There are other points in the new silhouette that are interesting, too. Many dress skirts are being cut with straight back and bias front. Lengths for daytime, according to some of the most noted couturiers, are from eight to 10 inches from the floor. Suit skirts favor the wrap-around idea. Buttons are a decorative feature.

Necklines are higher this year. Since they are, the rounded effect has come back. This mode is youthful and interesting. Because of the prevalence of black, white collars, round and demure, or white lingerie touches are being used lavishly.

Belts, in some ensembles, stay where they were. Other couturiers have dropped them. Still others have dropped them in back and let them retain their former position in front. Just where you wear your belt depends on the type of gown you prefer, and your own silhouette.

FOR early fall silk dresses are much in favor. Those that choose autumn colors are especially attractive. Wine-red, as glowing as a Burgundy vineyard, and green that has a warm color tone, are sure to keep you in the first row of the fashion parade. Heavier materials will be worn a little later. The present vogue for comfort prefers silk for the Indian summer weather.

One gown, charmingly new, is fashioned from lime green silk Belmont cord. The silk is woven with a fine diagonal twill. The sleeves are just sleeves until they reach the elbow when they grow full, and take the form of large, loose cuffs. Revers and under cuffs of white silk pique are effective decorations. The belt is placed at the normal waistline.

Accessories may be brown and white, or black and white. A small felt hat, white gloves, and slippers which combine white with the darker shade complete the ensemble.

If you are loitering at the seashore later than usual you will find plenty of opportunity to wear dresses that have a more lingering touch of summer. There is one in the new savonette silk crepe that combines a pale chalky blue dress with a deep blue jacket. The jacket, with its capelet effect, shoulders the sleeve problem by adding the necessary width. Hand faggoting, used in an interesting motif, gives the effect of a new high-waisted line.

(The following items were clipped and run in the Canyon City News of the above date.—Ed.)

Farm land is now selling in Woodford county, Illinois, for $225 an acre. It is only a question of time until Iowa's rich acres will command the same high price.—Keokuk (Ia.) Gate City.

And still there are some people who think Panhandle land is too high at $15 and $20 per acre. Panhandle land is as fertile and produces as much as the best of Iowa and Illionis land. It will raise crops under conditions which would mean failure in Iowa or Illinois. Climatic advantages is also on the side of the Panhandle. In the language of the Gate City, it is only a question of time when Panhandle land will command the highest price.—Daily Panhandle.

Elder J. S. Stockard, now at Allen, has a boy at his house about a month old.

J. M. Gibson is weatherboarding his residence and putting in one more window.

Miss May O'Keefe will leave tomorrow for Fort Worth where she will attend school.

Ottis Truelove, Esq., and B. H. Stone of Amarillo were in town Wednesday on business.

Mrs. T. H. Rowan is now the owner of an auto runabout and she guides it like an expert.

Pat Thompson of Valera, Tex., a brother of T. C. Thompson, is now with the Thompson Hardware Co.

Mrs. M. A. Scott and son, I. W., were in town trading Wednesday, and among the things they carried home was a new Mitchell wagon.

Mrs. A. B. Axtell, very ill for several days, is improving some. Her sister, Miss Cassady, one of those crippled at the fall of the baseball stand during the Reunion, is also getting along all right again.

Kelso Addresses Letter to Committee of Stockholders

Judge I. R. Kelso, president of the Texas Utilities Company, has addressed a letter to the members of the executive committee of the Protective League regarding the proposed action to be taken.

The following is the letter, which will be of interest to all stockholders in the company:

It will be perfectly obvious to the members of your committee, I think, that the present is an inopportune time for the writer to discuss the question of the proper type of either the American Commonwealths Power Corporation or the American Community Company, primarily because the question of the treatment of the Six Dollar preferred stock represented by your committee, together with all other classes of stock, bonds and debentures of said companies, is now the subject of serious consideration on the part of protective committees organized shortly after the appointment of receivers for said companies.

The writer has at all times taken the position that the receivers of said companies and also with the protective committee representing the American Community Company debenture, five and one-half per cent bonds, that any reorganization plan that does not adequately provide for the security holders, represented by your committee, in a perfectly fair manner cannot be consummated. Any constructive plan for protecting the interests of the Six Dollar preferred stock represented by you will have my sincere and active support.

I realize the difficulties which will be encountered by your committee in its efforts to find a plan that will prove workable and acceptable to interested parties represented by your committee, nevertheless, I believe a plan should be devised which will, in your judgment, be for the best interests of the parties represented by you and the people residing in Eastern New Mexico and the Panhandle of Texas; and to that end I am pleased to assure you that I stand ready to render any assistance within my power to put into effect any measures or plans decided upon by you for the purpose of protecting the common interest of all parties concerned.

Very truly yours,
I. R. KELSO.

FAMOUS CIRCUS WILL BE IN AMARILLO SOON

Cantankerous tigers, lions gifted with marvelous bass voices, pernicious pumas, polar bears, and herds of ponderous pachyderms, clowns and stars bespangled—all these, together with bands and calliopes, sideshows and hundreds of blooded track and ring steeds, are coming to Amarillo for the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, one of the largest in the world, is scheduled for afternoon and night performances on Wednesday, October 5.

This celebrated show, always to the fore with new and thrilling features, has this season, outdone itself in the line-up of its 1932 program. It isn't merely the same old round of the same old acts and displays, but, all new, novel, extremely thrilling and colorful. It abounds with names that are warp and woof of spangleland—the greatest array of circus stars ever presented under the famed Hagenbeck-Wallace banners.

Clyde Beatty, youthful subjugator, who is called the world's most fearless wild animal trainer, heads the list of thrillers.

Other equally prominent highlights will include Poodles Hanneford, greatest of riding comiques, and his noted family of equestrian; the Cronin Sisters, and the Wingert Trio, aerialists; the famous Hagenbeck - Wallace pachyderms; the MacFarlan educated equines; groups of iron jaw aerialists in thrilling displays, and scores of amazing track offerings.

Riding acts, acrobatic, and almost countless ground acts will vie with wild animal, the horse, and novelty numbers in the great oval arena with its three rings, spacious stages, and steel-barred presentation dens.

Clowns? Yes, half a hundred of 'em, and a while track full of animal and groteskue comics thrown in for good measure.

Hoovers and Bakers Relax

For a little relaxation after the conference of the National Citizens' Committee of the Welfare and Relief Mobilization at Washington, D. C., President Hoover and Newton D. Baker, Cleveland attorney and chairman of the organization, are shown above as they strolled about the White House grounds with their wives. The Bakers are in the center. At the conference, which was attended by national leaders, President Hoover laid down as the aim of the committee that "no man, woman or child shall go hungry during the approaching winter."

P. P. H. S. Gets Collection From Mrs. J. H. Cator

A valuable addition was added to the collections of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society last week, the material coming from Mrs. James H. Cator of Hansford County, Texas. Mrs. Cator sent for deposit in the museum a number of valuable relics and papers belonging to her illustrious husband, the late Jim Cator, who was one of the first settlers in the north plains country.

The collection consists of two guns, a big "40" buffalo gun and a saddle carbine, cartridge belt, bullet molds, powder cans, cap boxes, and a chest of valuable private letters and records. Jim Cator came to America and the Panhandle of Texas from England in 1871. For many years he was a buffalo hunter on the north plains, having among his personal acquaintances such men as Buffalo Bill, Billy Dixon, and other famous frontier characters. From about 1885 until his death in 1927, Jim Cator was a cattleman near Spearman in Hansford County.

Mrs. Cator, who still lives in the old ranch house, is also a native of England, and it is through her generosity that the museum receives this valuable loan of materials.

The buffalo gun which is in the Cator collection is said to be responsible for the killing of over 16,000 buffaloes.

Duflot Addresses Floydada Teachers On Tax Reductions

Speaking before the Teachers Institute last week at Floydada, Mr. J. L. Duflot, of the sociology department very pointedly laid bare the false doctrines of tax reductions that are being preached throughout the state.

Mr. Duflot, who was acting in the place of Dr. Hill on the program attempted to show to the teachers at the Floyd County Institute that citizens get more value received for tax money than any other investment that can be made. Consequently the drastic reductions that are being proposed by certain legislators would be malefactory to the tax-payer himself.

Mr. Duflot deplored the fact that people have allowed the apostles of tax reduction to become their idols, and are jumping to conclusions concerning governmental politics without sufficient evidence. Especially did he criticize the growing sentiment in regard to limiting the efficiency of the public schools.

"The goose that lays the golden egg of prosperity," said Mr. Duflot, "is not the industrial, banking or commercial systems but the educational systems; and when that is impaired or destroyed we are headed for another dark age."

In this country within two years we pay more for government than the entire cost of the World War to the United States. The debts which Europe owes us would pay our governmental expenses for a little more than six months. In ourselves would pay off every farm mortgage in the United States.

BUFFALOES LOSE TO SIMMONS COWBOYS IN ANNUAL TILT; A MUD BATTLE TO THE END

BURTON'S MEN DISPLAY RARE FORM FOR EARLY SEASON.

Playing what has been termed the annual grudge battle in a sea of mud and water, the West Texas Buffaloes lost to the Cowboys of Simmons University, Abilene, in the first game of the current season at Buffalo park by a narrow margin of 6-0, Friday night, Sept. 23rd.

The game was slowed somewhat by the steady drizzle of rain that continued throughout the evening.

The two teams were about evenly matched, although the Simmons crew was just a little lighter than the heavy Bison. The weight and strength of the Buffs was offset by the Cowboys through the work of a fast and tricky backfield.

Simmons kicked off, the Buffaloes taking the ball where most of the first quarter of the game was played in the center of the gridiron. As the game progressed and the ball and players became wetter and muddier, the contest developed into a punters duel between Phillips, W. T. halfback, and Pee, Simmons fullback. Both men placed most of their kicks between forty and sixty yards. One of the highlights of the game was Phillips' punt for sixty yards which rolled out of bounds on the two yard line.

The lone score of the game came in the early part of the second quarter when, after a series of fake and trick plays started in the first quarter, Pee, Simmons fullback plunged over the goal line. Try for extra point was blocked.

Only once during the game did the Buffaloes start an offensive drive that looked as if they would score. The drive was halted on the twenty yard line when a bad pass from center, and a wet ball, caused a fumble that resulted in the ball going to the Cowboys who punted to safer territory.

Williams, Buffalo fullback, and Pee, Cowboy fullback were by far the outstanding players of the melee. It seems that these two lads carried the brunt of the the offensive attack for their respective teams.

Joe Fortenberry, tall Bison end, proved to be the outstanding defensive player on the field. Time after time his long arms would reach out and grasp an opponent just as he was about to get lose. Fortenberry also showed ability at breaking up the passes of the opponents. Other players showing up well were Boyd, substitute at left end for the Buffs in the last two quarters, who was adept at stopping plays around his end, and Byron, Simmons quarterback, who showed ability as a signal caller and ball-toter.

One of the attractions of the contest that caused the fourteen hundred fans to stand in the rain for two hours was the snappy method of shifting used by the Abilene lads.

Coach Cranfill's Cowhands led in number of first downs by the count of 5-2. Simmins failed to complete a pass, while West Texas was successful in completing two short passtss.

Officials of the game: Kimbrough, Simmons; Honey, T. C. U., and May, Centenary.

Museum Building Work Slowed Up By Rains

Although slowed up considerably by continued rains, the work on the new Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum building is now well under way with the foundation completed and forms for the basement walls ready to receive concrete.

The building contract for the museum is held by the Frank Lytle Construction Company of Amarillo. Actual construction work is under the supervision of Mr. Dovie Coffee, a former resident of Canyon.

Considerable delay was undergone during the first week of the excavation of the basement when a peculiar soil formation was unexpectedly dug into. At one end of the excavation suitable sub-soil was found at the required depth for the safe construction of a foundation, while at the other end at the same depth was found a stratum of "blowy" sand. This made it necessary for the contractors to have the excavation made deeper and the foundation pillars sunk several feet in order to find a uniform clay foundation soil.

It is expected that the construction of the building will be so well underway by the time cold weather arrives, workmen can carry on insize work without hindrance from external climatic conditions.

Mr. Coffee announces that the museum should be completed by the latter part of January, baring unexpected delays.
